Customer Reviews

This is an honest review of the product. Currently, I am finishing up my statistics course online and this program is required. I am pursuing highest honors at my school and I'm going to have to redo this class if I want that to remain an option.The program works, it does not work well and it does not work all the time. It works to the degree I would expect a free program to work - but this isn't a free program, it costs $90. (currently) One of the worst issues I have with it is that the people who programmed it with the math questions seemed to not know how math worked. The auto-format tool that instructors use to make assignments rounds answers down and they don't give feedback for incorrect answers aside from the generic prompts. It's like if you put in the question "What is 10/6? (round to the nearest hundredth)" The answer would be "1.67" but no, the tool assumes it is 1.66 and expects you to put in that as an answer. If you don't, it simply says "Wrong" and gives you no credit. If this is in a lesson, it will lock your progress in the lesson until you get it right. That's a real catch-22 as far as learning is considered.Teachers also cannot give you access to late assignments. When I told my professor that I wouldn't be here for a week and would have to catch up on my assignments she told me immediately to work ahead. Turns out, professors cannot grant leeway with deadlines in the program. Once a deadline passes you are locked out of course materials. This means that I can't even review my previous week's answers on a quiz if I got it wrong, nor can I go back and point out the questions that were broken with the rounding issue.The interface is about what you would expect.
