Popol Vuh: The Mythology Of The Maya

Synopsis

THE "Popol Vuh" is the New World's richest mythological mine. THERE is no document of greater importance to the study of the pre-Columbian mythology of America than the "Popol Vuh." It is the chief source of our knowledge of the mythology of the Kich'á people of Central America, and it is further of considerable comparative value when studied in conjunction with the mythology of the Nahuatlac'á, or Mexican peoples. This interesting text, the recovery of which forms one of the most romantic episodes in the history of American bibliography, was written by a Christianized native of Guatemala some time in the seventeenth century, and was copied in the Kich'á language, in which it was originally written, by a monk of the Order of Predicadores, one Francisco Ximenes.
