Synopsis

“I’ve never been afraid of big moments. I get butterflies. I get nervous and anxious, but I think those are all good signs that I’m ready for the moment.” Stephen Curry. Stephen Curry was intent in showing the world that he was not just a “lucky” he wanted to show that he deserved to be playing in the Finals. He deserved to be the MVP. He deserved to win a championship. He deserved to be recognized as one of the greatest players to ever play this game. From humble beginnings, as the 7th pick in the 2009 NBA Draft that went relatively unnoticed, from having the one of worst records in the NBA in his first year as a Warrior, from being cast aside by critics for being always riddled with injury, he was now on the verge of ending all speculation once and for all as to whether his name deserved to be mentioned amongst the NBA greats. All it took was just 12 more minutes, just 1 more quarter of basketball with the Cleveland Cavalier fans booing him, the critics doubting him and the whole world watching him - he would show them just what he’s capable of to succeed under pressure, a skill he has picked up and honed over all the years of his basketball life. After 12 minutes, the world would come to know of the legend of Stephen Curry being one of the greatest shooter’s to ever play the game of basketball. After 12 more minutes, Stephen Curry would be deemed a bonafide superstar. After 12 more minutes, Stephen Curry wouldn’t be known as the guy who got a “lucky” to be MVP he would go from being just another all-star, to being an NBA Champion and solidifying his status as an absolute force to be reckoned with in the league. Interesting, engaging and easy to read, this book is about the rise of Stephen Curry, the Long-Shot, the MVP, and the Champion. Get this book now and enjoy the journey of the greatest super star!

The endless argument about athletes still persists after it is all said and done. People with enormous skills and abilities somehow never get the opportunity to make it big on a professional level. The odds seemed to be stacked against them. They lack the patience to take the long route to success never understanding that the number of variables necessary to succeed have quadrupled and they are simply out of reach for the average guy. A 50 inch standing vertical leap is just not as impressive, if the three point shot, defensive stats, and the ability to use pick and roll plays while in transition or during a fast break is not a part of your basketball arsenal. Raw talent may get the attention of basketball scouts but will and determination don't seem to have a measuring stick. I was privileged to read a short biop about Golden State Superstar Stephen Curry written by John Emerson. He was one of the most under the radar basketball stars to ever enter the league. The blue chippers were usually drafted in the first round but he went in round seven to the Golden State Warriors. His career waded in obscurity and he was plagued by injuries during the first few years and to be blunt, there seemed to be nothing unique about him. He was just a frail, skinny kid. He had the stats of a basketball guard with average skills and abilities. Success did not come easy for this young man. His father was an NBA veteran and is still well respected around the league. But Stephen could not sail through the NBA on the coat tails of his father's reputation. He still had to prove to himself and to the world that he was molded from the same clay. He had to display courage in the face of adversity and skills that raised the bar each time he took to the floor. The Warriors still believed in him and they stayed the course.
